We want to thank you for coming to Riverside Inn. We know many of you are surprised to see we serve with paper and plastic. It is not our choosing. We made the decision to obtain a liquor license from the state. In order to do this we had to be able to seat 150 people. Once we brought our seating up to 150, Levy county said we had to serve on paper and plastic. This is due to the fact that we are on a septic system. Levy county calculates it takes 40 gallons of water per person to wash glass and silverware. They calculate that it takes 20 gallons per person to use paper and plastic. Therefore they require we use paper and plastic to seat the 150 people needed to receive a liquor license from the state.

We hope you will understand our dilemma and forgive that we are serving on paper and plastic.

Enjoy your meal and your drinks at Riverside Inn! Sincerely The Management

Hours: Sunday - Thursday 9am - 10pm Friday & Saturday 9am - Midnight

Izaak Walton Lodge was originally built by Mr. A.F. Knotts and was completed in 1924, serving as a winter retreat for his wealthy northern friends. Mr. Knotts was a lawyer and civil engineer who helped plot the city of Gary, Indiana so he had much knowledge of planning and development.

He did entertain many for short visits including Thomas Edison, Henry Ford, and a few presidents. The area boasted some of the finest hunting and fishing to be found. Fishing and hunting still abound in the area.

The name Izaak Walton refers to a 1600's era Englishman that was an outdoorsman and was particularly concerned with water conservation. In 1630 he published the very famous work "The Compleat Angler", a guide to fly fishing, which is still in print today. The Izaak Walton League, was formed as a conservation group and named in his honor. There are currently some 250 chapters nationwide. Mr. Knotts, who was also familiar with his works similarly paid tribute by naming his lodge The Izaak Walton Lodge.

At this time there were many local fishermen, and those left over from the phosphate days of the early 1900's, who came to call the area Yankeetown, and as hard as Mr. Knotts fought against it he finally had to give in and embrace it. He even erected "See Yankeetown" signs throughout central Florida.

Phosphate was a booming industry in the region. It was brought by trucks and trains to Dunnellon and then loaded on barges and taken down river to the gulf where an island city was created by Captain Inglis, another entrepreneur of the time, and name-sake of Yankeetown's city of Inglis. The phosphate was then transferred to ships and taken back to Germany and other parts of Europe to make gun powder. Recognizing the danger of the unstable European countries rearming themselves after WWI the federal government shut down the export of phosphate, thus halting the main commerce.

Mr. Knotts and his family continued to live in Yankeetown for the remainder of their lives. Some descendants still reside here.

The sleepy little town was re-awakened again briefly in 1961 when Elvis spent the summer here filming his movie "Follow that Dream". Hwy 40 now bears the name "Follow That Dream Parkway". Many locals were here then and recall his visit fondly.

In 1999 the original lodge was destroyed by fire. It was rebuilt in the same foot print. There are no longer rooms upstairs. Exit Reality Leaders is currently located upstairs along with additional dining. Please feel free to visit Exit Reality Leaders up stairs.
